1.3. Background

The Sumner County Board of Education, hereinafter “SCS,” is located north of Nashville, stretching from Davidson County’s northern border to the Kentucky state line. Sumner County covers 530 square miles, including all or part of eight cities. SCS consists of forty-five (45) schools and maintains a student population of 30,000+ students and 4,000 employees. SCS currently has 30+ instructional coaches (lead educators) and 87 teacher leaders, who support their campuses through professional learning and instructional coaching. SCS is consistently ranked as one of the top academic school districts in the state, where students and staff are recognized for their classroom and extracurricular achievements at both the state and national levels. 15 of the elementary schools are listed as Title I schools, which are located within Hendersonville, Gallatin, Portland, and other rural communities within Sumner County.

SCS began its coaching program with a grant awarded in the 2013-14 school year. In the first year, each campus selected one teacher to serve as Teacher Leader and seven teachers were hired as instructional coaches, titled Lead Educators. All teacher leaders, lead educators, and some instructional coordinators attended four courses at Lipscomb University to attain an instructional coaching certificate. In the years that followed, the coaching certificate became an onboarding requirement of all teacher leaders and lead educators, and when funds were available, an option for instructional coordinators and school administrators. During the 2019-20 school year, the coaching certificate became an optional benefit for all teacher leaders.

SCS employees participating in the coaching classes and receiving an instructional coaching certificate completed courses in one year. Some years the cohorts completed courses in the summer and other years the cohorts completed classes as a combination of online and Saturday courses. Courses completed include: Leadership in Collaborative Professional Learning, Coaching Models and Practices, Developing Critical Cultural Competence, and Principles of Adult Learning.

5.7. Evaluation of Proposals

SCS will consider qualifications and experience, technical approach, and cost in the evaluation of proposals. The maximum points that shall be awarded for each of these categories are detailed below. The proposal evaluation process is designed to award the bid not necessarily to the Proposer of least cost, but rather to the Proposer with the best combination of attributes based upon the needs to Sumner County Schools.

The SCS Supervisor of Leadership and Development will first examine the proposals to reject those that are clearly non-responsive to the stated requirements. Proposers who are determined to be non-responsive and/or non-responsible will be notified of this determination.

A Proposal Evaluation Team, appropriate to the scope and nature of the RFP, will evaluate each Technical Proposal that appears responsive to the RFP. Each Proposal Evaluation Team member will independently evaluate each proposal.
