We have received a question regarding the inclusion of TNReady scores into students' final grades. If the raw scores are received from the Tennessee Department of Education within five days of the dismissal of the school year, TNReady scores will be included in the final averages of students in grades three through eight. If the scores are not received on or before five days prior to the end of the school year (May 22), TNReady scores will not be averaged into students' final grades. We do not expect report cards to be delayed for elementary and middle school students.

In keeping with what occurred for students taking end-of-course (EOC) exams this past fall, EOC scores will be included in the final averages of students in grades nine through twelve (high school students). Per State Board Policy 2.103, the weight of the EOC examination on each student's final average will be 10% for school year 2016-2017. Report cards will be mailed to the home of students.
